

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

Setting so as to substantially minimize the aliasing distortion component at zero in spatial frequencies and at a Nyquist frequency is one of the examples of the present invention. When the setting is used, an image can be provided and displayed at a resolution higher than the number of physical pixels in the imaging apparatus and display apparatus.